

FANZINE INDEX

Whole Number One

a - Conto

December 1952

This is the first of an anticipated series of issues of this index, which is intended to present data on fanzines of all times for any purpose the fanzine-inclined fan may find useful. As information currently exists, this is not a complete index. (A glance at page 2 will show that even such an important fanzine as "Ah! Sweet Idiocy!" has been omitted.) Any fan with a general collection of three or more feet of fanzines could probably supply some information that is lacking here. The more fans that do supply this information, the more complete subsequent swings around the alphabet will be. Regardless of the gaps, however, this is by far the most complete index of fanzines ever published, and we only hope that it will be of some interest and possibly even of benefit to the fan editor, collector, or historian.

The basic information for this index comes from R. D. Swisher, who, between approximately 1938 and 1946, did the terrific task of compiling information on fanzines from the beginnings to mid-1946. Information subsequent to this has been added by Bill Evans and Bob Pavlat, with invaluable assistance from various fans far too numerous to mention. However, Bob Silverberg did provide assistance above and beyond the call of duty, wading thru this fanzine collection at our request for information; and Walter A. Coslet's index of fanzines distributed thru the aegis of the Spectator Amateur Press Society has also been of great assistance. In years past the work of Bob Tucker, Julius Unger, and 4sj Ackerman seem to have been particularly helpful. Many other fans have helped, currently, and in the past, help without which this index would be even more incomplete than it is now!

A few words about the symbols and organization of material used in this index seems to be required. Generally speaking, the information is arranged as follows:

1. Fanzine title, and, if appropriate, author.
2. Editor(s).
3. Volume and issue number, and whole number.
4. Date.
5. Page size, considering an $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11$ page as unity.
6. Number of pages in the issue.
7. Reproduction method used.

The above information varies, depending upon the method that seemed best at the time of typing, but the presentation is, we believe, clean enough if the reader exerts himself just a trifle. The fanzine title used is that which seems most likely to be looked under for information, with frequent use of cross-indexing when it appeared that a fanzine might be looked for under two or more titles. Speaking broadly, the author is listed when the creative work in the publication is the work of one man, the editorial and publishing work that of another.

Usually, the numbering system of the editor is used, regardless of the sense that it may or may not make. When an obvious error is made by the editor, the correct number is shown with a footnote to show information that actually appeared on the magazine. The same has been done with regard to dating systems. In the case where no number and/or date appeared on the magazine, an estimated date or number has been shown in parentheses. (The use of parentheses may also indicate that the information shown came from sources other than the fanzine itself, such as a fanzine review column.)

The following symbols are used:
bw--bound with, indicating that two distinct magazines have been stapled or otherwise fastened together.

cw--combined with, meaning a merger of two fanzines. (This distinction is rather a recent one, and may not always hold true--cw and bw used to be relatively synonomous.)

pc--postcard.

p--printed.

o--offset (e.g., planograph, lithograph.)

mu or multi--multilith.

h--hecto, including both jelly and spirit duplication.

c--carbon or typed copies.

hand--writ by hand.

ad--addressograph.

rs--rubber stamp.

A number in parentheses following the title of a fanzine means that it is merely one of several fanzines bearing the same title. These numbers are assigned by the date the editors of this index became aware of the duplication of titles, not the date of publication of the fanzine.

The editors will be glad to answer any further questions at any time and by any method except collect. They will also deeply appreciate any corrections or additions to information contained herein. This index takes too much time to acknowledge each item individually, but thanks, all of you, for making this publication possible.

Price of "Fanzine Index": $0.20 per issue, with a free issue thrown in now and then if we become feelthy reech. We will try to go from Conto to Futus next time (mid 53), but we aren't promising. The issue after might see us half through the alphabet.. "O frabjous day! Callooh! Callay!"
.....but maybe it's a boojum!

FANZINE INDEX

Whole Number Two

Conto - Fan-Tods

January 1955

This is the second of an anticipated series of issues of this index, which is intended to present data on fanzines from the beginning thru 1952 for any purpose the fanzine-inclined fan may find useful. It is not a complete index. However, it is as complete as the efforts of many fans can make it. Since the first issue of this index, much too long ago, additional data has been received on some fanzines not then indexed, and this information will be published as a supplement at a later date. Any corrections or additions to this or preceding issues will be appreciated.

The editors attempted a different style of presentation beginning with page 36 of this issue. We have about decided to reprint pages 36 - 39 in the old format, but will defer action pending comment.

In general, information is arranged as follows:

Fanzine title, and, if appropriate, author.

Editor(s).

Volume number (Roman numerals), issue number (arabic), whole number (underlined arabic).

Date.

Page size, considering an $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11$ page as unity.

Reproduction method.

Usually, the numbering system of the editor is used, regardless of the sense that it may or may not make. When an obvious error is made by the editor, the correct information is shown, with a footnote to indicate the information that actually appeared on the magazine. The same has been done with regard to dates. When parentheses are used, it indicates either that the information was added by the editors of this index and did not actually appear on the magazine, or that the information was obtained from other sources than the magazine itself (e.g., a fanzine review column).

Common abbreviations used are: bw - bound with; cw - combined with; c - carbon copy; h - hecto, including both jelly and spirit duplication; hand - handwritten; m - mimeographed; mu or multi - multilith; o - offset; p - printed; pc - postcard; rs - rubber stamp; ad - addressograph; FWD - Futurian War Digest.

Information carries down the column until changed.

Correspondence regarding the index should be sent to Pavlat. Copies of the index are available on request, but we would appreciate $0.10 per copy to help offset expenses.

"Cosmos" lasted from July, 1933, to January, 1935, running for a total of between 275 and 300 pages (depending upon whose page-count you use.) Chapters 1 thru 7 were bound with "Science Fiction Digest" I 11 thru II 4, chapters 8 thru 12 with "Fantasy Magazine" II 5 thru III 3, and chapters 13 thru 17 with "Fantasy Magazine" II 5 thru IV 3. To save later searching thru this index, it might be mentioned that "Science Fiction Digest" metamorphosized into "Fantasy Magazine" between issue II 4 of the former and II 5 of the latter. If some one will furnish the titles of the individual chapters, they will be included in a later issue of this index.

Fantasy News

James V. Taurasi--Unknown number of issues, known to run thru XII, 13, 204 18 Sep 49 and an unnumbered "extra" 18 Jun 50.

First issue dated 26 Jan 38, appeared on an approx weekly schedule thru 10 Dec 39 (II, 25, 77).

William Sykora became editor with the 17 Dec 39 issue (II, 26, 78) (mn II " 77). Approx weekly schedule was maintained thru 18 May 41 issue (VI 18 149 (mn 150)). The next issue I can pin down is 14 Dec 41, VII 7 156. Schedule thereafter becomes erratic: 21 Dec, 157; 8 Mar 42, 158; 22 Mar, 159; 29 Mar, 160; 2 May 43, 161 (mn 160) (also mn VIII 3 rather than VIII 4); 9 May, 162 (mn 4 161); 25 Jul, 163 (mn 5 161); 8 Aug, 164 (mn 6 163); 22 Aug, 165; 29 Aug, 166;

16 Jul 44, IX 1 167 (never issued altho 1 or 2 copies exist); 23 Jul 44, VIII 10 167; etc. Sporadic publication continued thru 1 Jul 45 when issue IX 6(179) was issued.

22 Aug 48 saw the revival of Fantasy News with issue X 1 180; the only issue in Volume X. I don't know the date of XI 1 181, but XI 2 182 (mn 1) was dated 10 Apr 49, and an approx weekly schedule was maintained thru XII 13 204 dated 18 Sep 49.

The magazine normally ran 2-8 pages, mimeographed on standard size paper. The first printed issue was IV 18 96, 21 May 40. It continued in printed form until V 10 115, 1 Sep 40, when it reverted to mimeo. To the best of my knowledge, it remained in this form until XI 2 182, 10 Apr 49, when it again came out printed.

FANZINE INDEX

Whole Number Three

Fantop.. thru L...

February 1958

This is the third issue of this index, listing fanzines produced from the beginning thru 1952. The first issue of the index covered fanzines from A thru Conto.., the second issue continued the listing thru Fan-Tods, and this issue carries the listing thru the L's. Copies of the first issue are available, but the second issue is almost completely gone.

Corrections and additions to this index are solicited. A supplement will be published at a later date listing all corrections received. Note, however, that this index runs only thru the end of 1952.

Organization of information is as follows: Name of fanzine; name of author (in selected cases of single-author publications); name of person apparently primarily responsible for editing and production; volume number (roman); issue number (arabic); whole number (underlined arabic); date; page size; number of pages; method of reproduction. The numbering system used by the editor was followed, with editorial insertion of correct information when known. Material in parentheses indicates editorial insertion or correction. With regard to page size, the unit used is an $8\frac{1}{2}$ by 11" sheet; approximate size is indicated by fractions of 1, e.g., $\frac{2}{3}$ equals approximately one-half American legal size ($8\frac{1}{2}$ by 14").

The following abbreviations are used: bw--bound with; pcd--post-card; os--one shot; un--unnumbered; nd--no date; p--printed; o--offset (photolith, multilith, etc); hand--hand-written; c--carbon copied; m--mimeograph; rs--rubber stamp; d--ditto (spirit process); h--hecto (however, some magazines labeled "h" were produced by spirit process); FWD--Futurian War Digest, LeZ--Le Zombie. Information entered in a column carries down that column until amended, unless it is obvious that it was not so intended.

This index is based on information collected by R.D.Swisher thru approximately August, 1946. With the aid of many fans and their files, it has been updated thru 1952. Bill Evans reviewed the entire file against his collection, added missing information, clarified certain points, and helped in the job of soliciting information from fanzine publishers from 1946 thru 1952. Over 100 fans have helped with information from their files.

Copies of this index are available at 20¢ each, 50¢ for three, the entire series for $1.00. Issue two is in short supply, however, and will not be reprinted unless there is heavy demand. An "X" mark on the right means this is your last issue unless you pay. Future issues (as well as this one) will be distributed thru FAPA and OMPA.

Edited and published by Bob Pavlat, 6001 43rd Avenue, Hyattsville, Maryland, USA.

Futurian War Digest (continued)

bound with Fido--due largely to the English paper shortage during (No definite data. I recall an article on this by Wollheim, but cannot locate it. It was a rumor started by the New York Futurians, and I believe a few pages were actually published, although it is quite possible that I am confusing this with the Book of Ghughul--bp)

Imagination!

(There is some conflict here as to who did edit this. The card index of Swisher shows Test responsible for the preliminary issue, Yerke responsible for I 1, and Hodgkins for all subsequent. In "Venus" 2 (Sep 44) Ackerman states he and Morojo were solely responsible for all issues subsequent to I 2, and primarily responsible for I 1 and I 2 (he did not mention the preliminary issue.) On page 122 of The Immortal Storm Moskowitz cites T. Bruce Yerke and Forrest J. Ackerman as the editors of "Imagination!" while on page 139 he cites "editors Morojo and Ackerman." Apparently Morojo and Ackerman deserve the bulk of credit, Yerke somewhat less. -bp)

#Footnote to "Imaginative Fiction":
Madle indicates that first two issues were also half size, about 14-16 pages, dated about Oct 35 and May 36. Further, that he and Baltadonis shared editorial work, and Train was nominal editor of I 4. Completists beware--there were only two copies of I 1.

Apparently the use of whole number 15 in this case and numbers 17 and 18 for the fourth and fifth issues were an effort to continue the numbering from "Fanvariety."

(According to "Nebula" (II), p. 4, "PSFS News" would be incorporated in alternate issues of that magazine, and one page was in "Nebula" 10 (Apr 42) and perhaps in others.)

Tucker's 1943 "Fanzine Yearbook" lists 3 issues for 1943. Only one I have any record on is:

Oct 43 ?; 4; ?

The Yearbook lists 11 issues for 1944. These would appear to include the following:

Oswald Train

	?	Jan 44	?; 2-8; ?
	?	Feb
	?	Mar
	?	Apr
	?	May
IV	5(??)	Jun
IV	10	Jul
	11	Aug
	?	Sep

The 1945 Yearbook cites six issues for 1945. Information below is definite on the Aug, Oct, and Nov-Dec issues, uncertain on the others (as on the 1942 thru 1944 issues).

This is FANZINE INDEX, Number 4, August 1958, edited and published by Bob Pavlat, 6001 43rd Avenue, Hyattsville, Md. Arrangement of data is as in previous issues. Additions and corrections through 1952 only appreciated, and will eventually be printed. Distributed through FAPA and OMPA, and sold at 25¢ the copy. Issue #2 Exhausted, others are available.

Oolong is graced with the title "Oolong" only because fanzines without titles distress me. It is graced with the date November 1959 because fanzines without dates are troublesome. It is not graced with a number because one-shots and single-issue publications do not need to be numbered.

The information inside concerns Fanzine Index, and will be inserted into all copies of that. This outside material will go only through FAPA and CMPA. This particular format was adopted to avoid displeasing persons who dislike single sheet fanzines. Any such person will kindly cut this sheet down the middle, staple the two resulting sheets together, and will thus have a two-sheet fanzine. Two standard-size staples will be supplied free upon request to me (Bob Pavlat), provided envelope and postage are supplied by the requester.

The main reason for this page is to apologize for the shoddy reproduction of Madle's fanzine. My Rex-Rotary gave me fits of two different sorts: the inking mechanism got clogged, and I was too rushed too clean it, and the silk screen got ridges in it which I couldn't banish. Eventually, I did (tho whether they stayed banished won't be known until this stencil is run off), but the barely inked spots on Madle's pages are due to this trouble. My other troubles--high static in the paper due to change of weather and shock to my finances due to an auto accident on 9 November ($100, nobody hurt aside from injury to my self-esteem as a person who doesn't have accidents) need not trouble you.

Pardon my delays in answering mail of late. With this section of the index out of the way, at least that pressure will be relieved. Something else will doubtless take its place.

This is the final section of Fanzine Index--some 49 pages covering the "S" through "Z" portion of the alphabet, and non-alphabetic entries for fanzines published from the beginning through 1952.

In this portion of the index, as in all others, information was contributed by many persons. For this particular section I want to express my gratitude to Ron Ellik, who contributed much information for this section in advance of its publication (he's also been sending me many corrections on previous sections); John Magnus, who graciously permitted me to paw through his fanzine collection; and Dick Eney, who published a SAPS index which revealed that I had somehow failed to index the last two 1952 mailings of that group, and which supplied some needed information for this section. These are merely some of the most recent helpers; there have in the past been many others. I hope there will be more in the near future so some of the still existing gaps in this index can be filled in.

This does not quite finish the work on the index. Many pages of corrections and additions have been received, and these will be printed. Current plans call for a reprint of the first 39 pages ("A" through part of "F"), with corrections, and for notation of all subsequent corrections without reprint of the pages concerned. Date for this is unsettled, but it will be during 1960. There is also a cross-index by editor, the work of Bill Evans using these files, which should see print at about the same time.

There are no plans to do anything to index fanzines published since 1952. Any fan who wishes this job is more than welcome to it. While I would be glad to cooperate, I have no desire to be the prime mover in any such effort.

The key to reading the entries is contained in previous issues of the Index. It will also be reprinted along with the first 39 pages. On a few pages of this section, information is repeated for every issue of a fanzine, but I finally decided that this was far too time consuming, and went back to the old procedure of carrying the information down the column until changed.

Any additions or corrections to this or previous sections would be greatly appreciated.

I particularly regret missing out on FAPA mailing comments this time. There was a lot that I would have liked to comment on. And OMPA--I feel myself getting further and further from the main-stream of that group. But now winter's here, and with it the fanac that cold weather frequently brings, so maybe I'll be able to get back into the swing in OMPA. Speaking of which, OMPA requires the publisher's name and address on everything, and this seems a good place to sign off with just that information.

*"Fantasy Fiction Field" 128 (Jun 43), p.5, reports one issue.

Other mentions of various issues appear in FFF 154 (Jan 44); "Let's Swap" 6 (Jan 44); "Le Zombie" 57 (Apr 44); Tucker's "Fanzine Yearbook" for 1943 and 44; and something which Swisher noted as "STS" and which I can't identify. The Yearbooks cite 5 1943 issues and 3 1944 issues.

This is FANZINE INDEX, Number 5,
November 1959. It includes pages 93 through 141, "S" through "Z" and non-alphabetical entries. Editor is Bob Pavlat, 6001 43rd Avenue, Hyattsville,
Maryland, to whom inquiries, corrections and additions should be sent.
Corrections, partial list of contributors (all I can remember), etc, will be published in 1960. This issue 25¢.

PROJECT: BIBLIOGRAPHY OF FANZINES

A Few Helpful Suggestions On How To Prepare A Listing Of Your Pubs

All information is to be copied directly from the fanzine or fan-publication. If any data herein required need be added, please enclose it in parentheses (), or list it in footnotes and refer to it by using symbols. Describe contents in few words.

VOL-Volume (usually one for each year)

ISS-Issue (consecutive numbering in each volume)

W.NO-Whole Number (consecutive numbering of all issues). If not numbered or not dated, use symbols 'nn' and 'nd', and give number and approximate dates in footnotes.

FREQ-Fréquence (M-monthly, Q-quarterly, Irr-irregularly, &c.)

DATE-(date appearing in the publication)

SIZE-(measurement of sheet in inches, or according to country)

PAGES-(number of printed pages)

PROC-Process of reproduction (M-mimeograph, S-spirit-duplicator, O-offset lithography, LP-letterpress, &c.)

ILL-Illustrations (answer 'yes' or 'no').

ORG NO & DATE-Organization, Number and Date (if an APA/publishing group, only then give initials, number and date of distribution.)

CIRC-Circulation (number of copies printed for distribution)

PRICE-(if any)

HOUSE-(if Publishing House Name and Numbering used, place number in column and name in footnotes.)

It is not necessary to make out a form for each publication--continue down the sheet.

Please bear in mind all information must stand verification at a later date.
