

TABOO OPINIONS #34

By Richard E. Geis

rerwingeis@cs.com

Copyright 2005 by Richard E. Geis

For Adults Only!

Quoting in whole or in part is encouraged

With a credit line, please.

2-10-05 MY CURRENT OBSESSION CONTINUED...

...is the Iraqi election. Now, in a New York Times News Service story by James Glanz, we learn that on election day ballot boxes had been stolen at gun point and returned later stuffed with patently illegal ballots...that many thousands of people were prevented from voting...that 300 boxes of ballots are being recounted (and authenticated)...and that these accusations and scandals had been widely covered by the Arab news media...

And we now can see that this news has been till now ignored (I say censored) by the American news media in order to make Bush and his Iraqi election look good (for as long as possible).

And an Iraqi election official said to reporter Glanz that because 30,000 polling stations were open on Election Day, a recount of 300 ballot boxes should be seen as "a very small number."

Say WHAT?? 30,000? But we've been given 5300 as the number of polling places. Is this a lie, an error, or a mistranslation?

Stay tuned.

RE: MY DEAD FRIEND

He's been dead almost three years and a couple days ago was sent notice that his [maxxed out & defaulted] account is being upgraded and he'll be sent a new Platinum Discover Card.

Now, today, a letter from Secure Funding - The Home Equity Specialist - who offer him up to a $75,000 second mortgage on his home...

Except he didn't have a home, a house, nor even a pot to piss in. He lived (and died) in his truck...and it wasn't even his truck.

Yes, Virginia, there is an afterlife---it's in eternal mailing lists and lying by mailing list companies.

END TABOO OPINIONS #34