5-20-05 AN IMMODEST PROPOSAL

Whaddya think about legalized prostitution?

I see a kind of legal option in the near future. The Indian tribes discovered they had a degree of autonomy---FREEDOM!---on their reservations which no other groups had, and they discovered they could build, open, and profit from legal gambling casinos.

Dozens of Indian casinos dot the land. More are in the works.

Dare I speak the obvious? When will the first Indian nation begin offering sex to its casino customers?

Legal sex. Sanctified by mandatory use of condoms, sanctified by regular health checks for the 'workers', sanctified by regular state inspections of the facilities, sanctified by legal worker contracts which might include pensions, certainly total health insurance...certainly regulated hours worked, days off, probably unobtrusive tv monitored engagements...

The police on the premises would be there to protect the girls.

Services offered? Straight intercourse, of course, oral, of course, manual, of course... Probably anal, as well, for the kinky and gay, plus mild bondage and sado-maso variations...

You might see a variety of Visit Packages offering degrees of sex-gambling-stage shows...to appeal to any kind of group.

And I think it would be appropriate that the entrance to the sex services area be a green door.

So when will this 'next step' in our free secular society begin? Probably during the next severe recession...like, next year.

Greed makes more social change than anything.
