30-Watt Transformer for 7110XC Explosion Proof Driver...

Our data sheet for the 7110XC driver indicates the University Model 5030 transformer is to be used for installations requiring 70 volt distribution. However, this model was discontinued with an exact replacement recommended as being the EV TM30 transformer. We recently discovered that although the TM30 frame footprint is the same, the height of the transformer body is too tall to permit the driver cover to close. In short, it will not fit!

We apologize for this error and any inconvenience this may have caused. We do have an immediate solution to this problem. While we work on a permanent solution you can order a 30 watt transformer through our service department now. We have tested this transformer and it is a perfect fit into the 7110XC housing. The part number is 56-05-022109-04 with a suggested retail price of $31.20 and dealer cost at $20.89 (slightly less expensive than the TM30).

If you have any questions regarding this problem or would like to order the proper transformer for your job please contact our repair service department at extension 265.
