

JOEMEEK MicroMeeK Computer recording interface

- CurrentSense mic pre, JOEMEEK compressor and EQ channel for PC/Mac

The world's first 'real' plugin

The MicroMeeK MQ1 is THE complete PC and Mac recording solution: A professional recording channel that actually fits inside your music computer!, adding to your sound card a professional musical interface. The MicroMeeK uses JOEMEEK's unique CurrentSense pre amplifier technology, vintage optical compression and discrete MeQ, exactly as in the bigger JOEMEEK channels, to give you a PC recording enhancement second to none.

'The MQ1 brings professional recording quality to the desktop computer'

The MicroMeeK adds functionality to your recording system; enabling you to directly connect a quality condenser microphone to a rear mounted XLR connector and instrument source (through front instrument input) to your PC with professional frequency response and noise performance. Phantom power is supplied from the computer's internal power. An additional stereo line source such as an external mixer is easily connected to the auxiliary inputs, and switched in from the front of the drive bay unit.

With the MQ1 and a quality sound card, you can capture professional sounds directly into your music computer... big sounds with little effort.

Installation is simple too - No drivers or mess. You only need one free drive bay, and one free expansion slot for the connection board, and that's it - so simple!

Rear connection board provides essential balanced/unbalanced I/O to your sound card, as well as a quality breakout XLR connector for microphone input

Inputs and outputs are kept neatly away on the MicroMeeK's rear mounting connection board, while controls for input gain, compression and EQ are conveniently placed on the drive bay's front. There is an additional instrument input on the drive bay to allow those spontaneous instrument tracks in front of your computer.

With the MQ1 comes the JOEMEEK resource disk, that includes full version software from SONIC FOUNDRY® and demos of other titles, including Cakewalk® 'Sonar'.

With the MQ1, your recording computer becomes a professional musical system, capable of low noise, high quality and PHAT sounds. It's the recording solution the computer world has been waiting for!

JOEMEEK®
COMPRESSION

