

put down the beer and stop hitting on that 19-year old.

we need you.

Things have to change. The big 5 record labels have been buying off radio stations and screwing over musicians for decades. Now they're suing fans. But changing the record industry isn't just a stoner fantasy anymore -- major label sales are way down and their bloated system can't take much more. We can break the major label cartel within two years if independent musicians, fans, and critics all work together. So go tell A&R to fuck off and let's get down to business. To find out more visit the website.

www.downhillbattle.org

put down the beer and stop hitting on that 19-year old.

we need you.

Things have to change. The big 5 record labels have been buying off radio stations and screwing over musicians for decades. Now they're suing fans. But changing the record industry isn't just a stoner fantasy anymore -- major label sales are way down and their bloated system can't take much more. We can break the major label cartel within two years if independent musicians, fans, and critics all work together. So go tell A&R to fuck off and let's get down to business. To find out more visit the website.

www.downhillbattle.org

put down the beer and stop hitting on that 19-year old.

we need you.

Things have to change. The big 5 record labels have been buying off radio stations and screwing over musicians for decades. Now they're suing fans. But changing the record industry isn't just a stoner fantasy anymore -- major label sales are way down and their bloated system can't take much more. We can break the major label cartel within two years if independent musicians, fans, and critics all work together. So go tell A&R to fuck off and let's get down to business. To find out more visit the website.

www.downhillbattle.org

put down the beer and stop hitting on that 19-year old.

we need you.

Things have to change. The big 5 record labels have been buying off radio stations and screwing over musicians for decades. Now they're suing fans. But changing the record industry isn't just a stoner fantasy anymore -- major label sales are way down and their bloated system can't take much more. We can break the major label cartel within two years if independent musicians, fans, and critics all work together. So go tell A&R to fuck off and let's get down to business. To find out more visit the website.

www.downhillbattle.org